Introduction to Cheonan City

Location and Administrative Districts of Cheonan

- Location Cheonan is located in the northeastern part of South Chungcheong Province (Chungcheongnam-do). To the east, it borders Cheongju and Jincheon in North Chungcheong Province (Chungcheongbuk-do). To the west, it shares boundaries with Asan, and to the south, it borders Gongju and the Sejong Special Self-Governing City. To the north, it borders Pyeongtaek and Anseong in Gyeonggi Province.
- Administrative Districts Cheonan is divided into 2 districts, 4 towns, 8 townships, and 19 administrative districts (148 legal districts, 31 legal neighborhoods). The total area of Cheonan is 636km (as of December 2021), which accounts for 7.73% of the total area of South Chungcheong Province, which is 8,226km.

Symbols of Cheonan City

- City Tree Weeping Willow(The weeping willow, which grows in fields and along riverbanks, is a deciduous tree often used as a street tree. It is the strongest symbol of Cheonan's external image, representing resilience and grace.)
- City Flower Forsythia(The forsythia, with its bright yellow flowers that bloom before the leaves, symbolizes hope and announces the arrival of spring.)
- City Bird Dove(The dove, symbolizing peace, has a deep connection with humanity and represents Cheonan's commitment to peace and harmony.)
- City Animal Dragon(The dragon, a majestic and revered creature in Korean culture, symbolizes strength and protection. It is closely related to the city's name, Cheonan, which is associated with the legend of the Five Dragons and the region's geomantic significance.)

Pride of Cheonan

Yu Gwan-sun (A Global Female Independence Activist)
 Born on December 16, 1902, in Byeongcheon-myeon, Cheonan.
 On April 1, 1919, she led the Aunae Independence Movement in Cheonan. As a result of this activism, she was imprisoned at Seodaemun Prison and continued to cry for independence even in the face of brutal torture. She passed away on September 28, 1920, at Seodaemun Prison. Yu Gwan-sun is revered as a symbol of nonviolent struggle and the spirit of the March 1st Movement.

• General Kim Si-min (Commander of the Battle of Jinju)

Born on August 27, 1554, in Byeongcheon-myeon, Cheonan. On October 5, 1592, during the First Battle of Jinju, General Kim Si-min led the defense against a Japanese army of 30,000, killing over 20,000 enemy soldiers with his remarkable military strategy and tactics. He was wounded by enemy fire and died from his injuries on October 18, 1592, at the age of 39.

Seok Oh Lee Dong-nyeong (Independence Activist and Leader of the Provisional Government)
 Born on February 17, 1869, in Mokcheon-eup, Cheonan. He was a prominent enlightenment figure, journalist, and independence activist during the Japanese occupation. From 1926 to 1927, he served as the Prime Minister of the Provisional Government of the Republic of Korea, and from 1933 to 1940, he served as its President. He founded the Shinheung Military Academy and served as its first principal, playing a pivotal role in Korea's independence movement.
